COLLINS CONSULTING AWARDED NAVY SEAPORT-E CONTRACT

SCHAUMBURG, IL - Collins Consulting, Inc. announced today that it has been awarded a Prime contract within the Navy's nation-wide Seaport-Enhanced contract. As a "Multiple Award Contract" (MAC), Collins will now compete with other Seaport-E Prime Contractors for specific tasks nationwide.

The "massive" Navy Seaport-E contract has a remaining initial period of three (3) years with two (2) additional five-year options, potentially taking it through the year of 2018.

Although actual funding to prime contractors must be competed and awarded by each Warfare Center, Collins has been awarded a nation-wide ceiling of $50.1 billion dollars total (potential) revenue in the first three-year period, and a total evaluated maximum contract value of slightly over $203 billion dollars if the government exercises all contract option periods.

This contract is used by all Navy shore-based activities for "Engineering, Technical, and Programmatic Support Services". Although this contract is primarily in support of Navy Program Offices, services under this contract will be available throughout the Department of Defense (DoD).
